COURSE DESCRIPTION

Provides an historical survey of representative philosophers from the pre-Socratics to the present. Introduces the student to the development of philosophical thought through selected readings of original works and appropriate critical materials. Lecture 3 hours per week.

GENERAL COURSE PURPOSE

To introduce the student to the history of and the thought of the major philosophical thinkers of the Western tradition through a critical reading of representative texts including, but not limited to, the Modern and Contemporary periods. While all periods of philosophy may be represented, Modern and Contemporary Philosophy is the emphasis of this course so that the student will gain a comprehensive understanding and appreciation for the historical as well as perennial philosophical questions and the answers proposed by the greatest thinkers in the Western traditions.

COURSE PREREQUISITES/CO-REQUISITES

None

COURSE OBJECTIVES

At the completion of this course the student will have developed a clear and comprehensive understanding of the general movement of philosophical thinking from the early Modern philosophers to the present day. Specifically the student should be able to:

- Identify topics and themes relevant to the Modern and Contemporary periods in the history of philosophy.
- Discuss the questions underlying the topics and themes in a coherent, meaningful, and critical fashion.
- Appreciate the distinctive features of the thought and world-views of Modern and Contemporary periods in western philosophical history.
- Interpret in a coherent and constructive fashion some of the fundamental texts of the first rate thinkers of the Western Philosophical tradition.
- Assess the value of the contributions the major philosophers and their schools have made to our thinking and our way of life.

MAJOR TOPICS TO BE INCLUDED

Several of the following thinkers from the Modern and Contemporary Periods:

- Modern Period: Descartes, Hobbes, Locke, Berkeley, Hume, Leibnitz, Kant, Hegel, Kierkegaard, Marx, James, Pierce, and Dewey etc.
- Contemporary Period: The Existentialists: Jaspers, Marcel, Sartre, Camus etc.; Heidegger, Gadamer, Voegelin, Habermas etc. The Process Philosophers: Whitehead, Hartshorne etc.

In addition, the course may include some thinkers from the Classical Period.