ENROLLMENT PLANNING BY CAMPUS AND DIVISION: 2014-15

Introduction

Enrollment growth that mirrors the population growth of the Northern Virginia region has been identified as a strategic goal for the College. Enrollment growth is critically important for obtaining the resources needed to increase student access, to advance College initiatives, and to enhance faculty and staff compensation so that it is competitive in relation to compensation in the region.

Targets, metrics, and tools provide quantitative means to answer the question of whether the class schedule has sufficient capacity by campus and division to achieve FTES targets.

Successful scheduling is built on the quantitative foundation but must go beyond this foundation and encompass qualitative factors as well. In this way the college can work towards ensuring that sufficient numbers of classes are offered at optimum days and times, primarily, in response to student-driven needs and demand.

The sequential set of tables in the Enrollment Planning by Campus and Division: 2014-15 report provides a systematic way to determine the number of credits that are needed to generate the target FTES set for the College and the Campuses. Offering the specified number of credits does not, of course, guarantee that the target will be met. However, it is usually a requisite condition for realizing the target.
A. Campuses set their programmatic FTES targets by projecting the coming year's enrollment in relation to the past year (Tables 1 and 2).
B. Campuses may realize their programmatic FTES targets not just by offering classes at their own campus but also by offering classes at other locations and venues, including other campuses. One venue, other than the home campus location, used by all campuses is the Extended Learning Institute (ELI) (Tables 3 and 4).
C. Campuses achieve their annual programmatic FTES targets by projecting sub-targets for Summer, Fall, and Spring (Tables 5 and 6).
D. The sub-targets are informed by historical data showing:

- The percentage of Spring and Summer FTES to the fall base FTES (Table 7).
- The relative percentages of Summer, Fall, and Spring FTES in relation to the total FTES (Table 8).
E. Campuses further need to set targets by divisions, the total of which realizes the campus's sub-targets by semester (Table 9).
F. Historical data by campuses (excluding ELI), terms, and divisions further show the calculated interrelationships of key schedule components:
- Course Credits Run
- Student Credit Hours
- Student-Faculty Ratio
- FTES
- Cancelled Credits
- Percentage of Credits Cancelled
- Collapsed Credits
- Credit Hours Offered
G. Historical data by campuses (ELI included), terms, and divisions further show the calculated interrelationships of key schedule components:
- Course Credits Run
- Student Credit Hours
- Student-Faculty Ratio
- FTES
- Cancelled Credits
- Percentage of Credits Cancelled
- Collapsed Credits
- Credit Hours Offered
(Table 11)

Data used in this report are derived from the Standard Enrollment Management Report (SEMR) from PeopleSoft. PeopleSoft data are live and can vary slightly every time the database is queried.

Note: Data in this report have been rounded. Some figures may not add to the total or 100 percent.

Table 1. Campus Programmatic Annual FTES Growth Target: 2014-15

| Campus | 2014-15  FTES Target |

| Woodbridge | 5,309 |
| Total | $\mathbf{3 6 , 0 9 2}$ |

- Table 1 presents the 2014-15 programmatic enrollment targets for each campus.
- Campus programmatic FTES are generated by the academic divisions and faculty assigned to each campus.
- Programmatic FTES are assigned to the sponsoring campus regardless of whether classes are taught at the location of the sponsoring campus or at another campus, location, or venue.
- Programmatic FTES are the key numbers used to determine critical matters such as campus size, campus growth, and allocation of faculty positions.
- Programmatic FTES targets are identified by the Provosts based on their decisions to pursue low, moderate, or high growth.
- Targets represent minimum expectations for growth. Exceeding targets is desirable; falling below is not.
- The annualized figures are further broken down by terms/semesters (Summer, Fall, and Spring) - see Tables 5 and 6.

*2013-14 FTES as of 06/12/2014.

Table 3. 2014-15 FTES Targets by Location/Venue

- Table 3 presents the FTES targets for 2014-15 by location/venue. Note that the Arlington Center, Signal Hill, Reston Center, Manassas Innovation Park, and the Extended Learning Institute (ELI) FTES are separated from the campus programmatic FTES.
- Programmatic FTES will be realized in a variety of locations or venues, to include the six campuses, four centers (Arlington, Signal Hill, Reston, and Innovation Park), and ELI.
- Classes offered at off-campus sites will be assigned to the appropriate campus location (e.g., classes at Quantico will be assigned to the Woodbridge Campus location regardless of whether the class is offered programmatically by Woodbridge or another campus).
- The largest venue other than a physical campus location is ELI.
- All ELI programmatic FTES go to the sponsoring campus.
- The total for the location/venue target is the same as that for programmatic target (36,092 FTES for 2014-15).

Table 4. Location/Venue FTES Target by Programmatic Contributors

| Totals | 36,092 | 7,526 | 12,785 | 5,556 | 3,943 | 973 | 5,309 |

- The matrix shows each campus's programmatic contribution toward its 2014-15 FTES target by location/venue.
- The campus offering classes at another campus, location, or venue still receives full credit for programmatic FTES.
- The matrix encourages cooperation and collaboration among campuses by creating win/win opportunities for both sponsor and host.
- Location/venue projections are subject to ongoing adjustment, but the campus programmatic contribution totals - presented in Table 1 - should be maintained.
- Therefore, decreases in one location/venue should be compensated for by increases in another, and vice versa.

Figure 1 provides formulas for calculating FTES, course credit hours run, and course credit hours offered. Furthermore, given the number of FTES, Figure 1 includes examples demonstrating how to use the formulas to calculate course credits offered. Table 10 provides historical data, by campus and division, on course credits run, cancelled or collapsed, and course credits offered. In addition, Table 10 presents the student-faculty ratio and the number of FTES produced by each campus and division.

1. From Course Credit Hours Run to FTES
$\square$
$\frac{\text { Course Credit Hours Run x (Student/Faculty Ratio) }}{15}=$ FTES
$\frac{900 \times(21)}{15}=1,260$
2. From FTES to Course Credit Hours Run

FTES $\times 15$
(Student/Faculty Ratio) $=$ Course Credit Hours Run

$$
\frac{1,260 \times 15}{(21)}=900
$$

3. From Course Credit Hours Run to Course Credit Hours Needed to be Offered

$$
\begin{array}{r}
\text { Course Credit Hours Run } x \text { (Percentage Cancelled/Collapsed }+100 \% \text { ) } \\
\text { = Course Credit Hours Needed to be Offered }
\end{array}
$$

$$
900 \times(112 \%)=1,008
$$
