The Bachelor of Interdisciplinary Studies (BIS) is a part-time, undergraduate degree program that allows students to take classes online and in the evenings and weekends at NOVA’s Alexandria and Loudoun campuses. It is for students who have completed 60 credits, at least 15 of which have been earned at NOVA. This transfer degree program, offered through the University of Virginia School of Continuing and Professional Studies, builds on students’ previous college work and offers liberal art courses that promote critical thinking and analytical skills. Classes are taught in Northern Virginia or online by faculty from the University of Virginia. Applications are accepted for fall and spring admission.
