Myanmar: Between Political and Climate Change in Southeast Asia

June 4 - 21, 2020, Myanmar

Fully-Funded Overseas Faculty Development Seminar for Community College and MSI Faculty

Myanmar is undergoing a challenging political, economic, and cultural transition. It is also facing the devastating effects of climate change, with many communities affected by floods, typhoons, and sea-level rise. How is the country addressing this wide spectrum of challenges? How are these challenges perceived by local communities, covered in the media, and discussed by the country's leaders and politicians?
