

NOVA COLLEGE-WIDE COURSE CONTENT SUMMARY
GRE 202 - INTERMEDIATE ANCIENT GREEK I (3 CR.)*Course Description

Introduces the reading of classical and Koine Greek with a review of Greek grammar, forms, and syntax. Part II of II. Lecture 3 hours per week.

General Course Purpose

The purpose of Intermediate Ancient Greek study is to enable the student to read the classical literature of antiquity and explore the cultural aspects of its components. The study of Classical Greek language is integral to the study of Classical Greek culture. In Greek 202, the student learns along with the grammatical structure, vocabulary and idiom of the language, the cultural development and change in the language as it moves from Homeric Greek to High Classical Greek of the dramatists and philosophers to Koine Greek of the New Testament. Emphasis is placed upon understanding how the spiritual, intellectual, political and religious factors influenced the language of its writers and religious figures. The student is tested on both the knowledge of the Greek language and the Greek culture as it is represented in the writings of Homer, Plato, Aristotle, St. Paul, St. John and many others of antiquity. In keeping with the National Standards for Foreign Language Education, culture (music, art, gastronomy, social mores, and others) is embedded in this language course. This is reflected in our written and oral assessments.

Course Prerequisites/Corequisites

Prerequisite: GRE 201. Students who have not taken GRE 201 should have Greek proficiency at or above the Intermediate-low level as defined by the ACTFL Proficiency Guidelines

Course Objectives

The objective is to lead the student away from elementary structural drills and towards more complex skills in reading and some writing. The ACTFL standards include Culture, Connections, Comparisons and Communities as part of foreign language instruction and assessment.

Upon completion of the course, students will be able to:
