Employment with an International Organization

F-1 students may apply for authorization to work for approved international organizations such as the World Bank, Inter-American Development Bank, UN, International Monetary Fund, etc.

You are eligible to apply and work any time during your F-1 status including your first semester and vacation periods.

You will need to submit your application forms and documents to the US Citizenship and Immigration Services. Please see the second page of this document for information on applying for authorization.

The approval may take 2-3 months. Note that you are not authorized to begin working until after you receive your EAD card. If you hope to begin working sooner, and you are eligible to register for internrship credit for the semester, you may want to discuss with an international student advisor whether Curricular Practical Training (CPT) is a better option for employment authorization.

Students may apply for authorization to work full-time or part-time. In your application you will need to specify part-time (20 hours per week or less) or full-time (over 20 hours per week).

There is no limit on the number of semesters or months you can have International Organization authorization. This authorization does not affect your eligibility for OPT or CPT.

Application process:

Bring the following documents to the Office of International Student Services (OISS):

2. Employment offer letter from the international organization, on letter head, including:
   - job responsibilities
   - beginning and ending dates (note that you will not be authorized to work until you receive your EAD card, which often takes 2 to 3 months)
3. Passport with visa (if applicable)
4. Current I-94 card indicating F-1 status
5. Current SEVIS I-20

OISS will contact you within 10 business days when your application is ready for you to pick up. At that time you will need to mail it out to USCIS. Make copies of your entire application packet for your personal files before mailing your application to the USCIS.

United States law requires you to obtain written authorization before starting any type of compensated employment. Beginning work without authorization from the US Citizenship and Immigration Service (USCIS) or NOVA's Office of International Student Services is a serious violation of your F-1 status.
