Community College Faculty Survey of Student Engagement is Coming

As you know, NOVA is participating in the Community College Survey of Student Engagement (CCSSE). In conjunction with the CCSSE administration this spring, we also have the opportunity to conduct the Community College Faculty Survey of Student Engagement (CCFSSE). The CCFSSE instrument was designed to mirror the Community College Student Report in an effort to facilitate discussions about student and faculty responses.

We plan to use the CCSSE results to promote institutional improvement, and it is vital that our faculty have a voice in these efforts. We feel that being able to view faculty expectations and perceptions of student engagement (in the aggregate) alongside 2008 student responses will not only help us identify areas of strength, but it will also enable us to recognize challenges or gaps that may require further consideration.

President Robert G. Templin, Jr. is requesting that faculty members (full-time and adjunct) participate in the faculty survey. Please note that CCSSE will send faculty an e-mail with a link to the survey that is online. The window of time for completing the survey is from April 4 to May 21.

Upon completion of the online administration period, CCSSE staff will analyze the results and we will receive an electronic report of results when we receive our CCSSE Institutional Report in July 2008.

Your survey responses will not be linked back to individual faculty members. Instead, all student responses will be linked to all faculty responses for institution-wide improvement purposes, so please be completely candid in your responses.

Your cooperation and participation in this exciting initiative is truly valued and appreciated.
Loudoun Campus Student Selected for the All-Virginia Academic Team

Cynthia Spencer, Loudoun Campus student, has been selected for the All-Virginia Academic Team. Originally from Leesburg, Virginia, Spencer says that, “The choice to return to school was not an easy one, but the overwhelming desire to finish school and obtain my degree could not be ignored. It has changed my life.”

Dean of Students Kirk Nooks (LO) also commented on Spencer’s accomplishment, “Cynthia is a shining example of the impact that community colleges have throughout the nation, and we truly applaud all of her hard work.”

Spencer is a science major and serves as treasurer for the Alpha Zeta Rho Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa. Her other honors include being Presidential Scholar in fall 2006 and 2007, being on the Dean’s List in spring 2007 and summer 2007 and being named Who’s Who in American Junior Colleges 2008. She is considering continuing her education at the University of Virginia, the College of William and Mary or possibly the University of California, Berkeley. Congratulations!
Alexandria Campus Inducts Record Number of Phi Theta Kappa Members

On March 26, the Alexandria Campus inducted a record number of 143 students into the Tau Nu Chapter of the Phi Theta Kappa International Honor Society for the spring semester. President Robert G. Templin, Jr. welcomed the new members into the Honor Society, mentioning that his own induction into Phi Theta Kappa as a community college student had a significant impact on his life. Jack Lechelt, assistant professor of government and keynote speaker for the induction ceremony, spoke to the new members about civic responsibility and encouraged them to continue involving themselves in leadership and community service in the future. Dean of Students Pat Lunt also attended the ceremony to congratulate the new Phi Theta Kappa members.

Faculty Attend and Present at Foreign Languages Spring Workshop

NOVA’s World Languages Program Faculty were well represented at the Greater Washington Association of Teachers of Foreign Languages (GWATFL) 2008 Spring Workshop sessions held on March 1. There were 14 sessions on world language learning and teaching where local teachers from community colleges and Fairfax County, D.C., Maryland and other Virginia public schools discussed and learned new strategies to improve their classrooms. Laura Franklin (AL, French), Monica Mulholland (AL, Spanish), Amanda Trostle (AL, Spanish) and Takako Shigehisa (AL, Japanese) were among the presenters at the conference.
NOVA Manassas Campus Men's Intramural Basketball Club

The Men's Intramural Basketball Club at the NOVA Manassas Campus participated in the 2008 Men's Winter League at Hoop Magic Sports Academy in Chantilly. The team met at Hoop Magic Sports each Saturday from January thru March. It was an exciting season as the competition at this level was extremely competitive. Players include Jeffrey Payne, Kevin Obungu, John Ikpo, Jason Duane, Devin Lykes, Justin Turner, Ryan Young, Julian Hooks, Curtis Davis and Raphael Rigaud.

The Manassas Campus Men's Intramural Basketball Club is looking forward to the fall semester to expand their talent! A special thank you goes out to our volunteer coaches Pat Lazzarino (MA), Pat Martin-Mattocks (MA) and Jonathan Woodfork!

Biotechnology Program Open House

To celebrate the beginning of our new Associate of Applied Science in Biotechnology, the Manassas Campus hosted its first Biotechnology Program Open House on March 21. Over 50 high schools students attended this event, representing a total of eight different high schools from Prince William and Fairfax Counties.

These students participated in lab activities led by current biology and biotech faculty, including Diane Mucci (LO), Chad Knights (AL) and Johanna Weiss (MA). In these sessions, students were able to extract their own DNA to make a necklace, as well as use DNA fingerprinting to determine the guilt/innocence of a criminal suspect.

Students had lunch with the faculty and tours of the Campus given by current biotech students. Students attended an information session in the morning on NOVA Admissions and the NOVA Biotechnology Program from Alicia Grande, high school outreach coordinator (MA), and La Gomez, biotech outreach coordinator (MA). Due to the great success of this event, the College biotechnology committee is currently planning a similar open house at the Loudoun Campus and a community-wide open house to be held this summer.
Kuhta to Present at the American Association of Community Colleges Convention

Anne M. Kuhta, English professor at the Manassas Campus, will present a paper at the American Association of Community Colleges 88th Annual Convention that will be held April 5 to 8 in Philadelphia. The theme of the convention is "Make It Happen." Kuhta will address the community college's challenge to meet the needs of retiring Baby Boomers who are returning to college for workforce development skills. Kuhta's 1995 doctoral dissertation was titled “The Next Fifty: A Humanities Program for Older Learners.”

In addition to celebrating her 20th year at NOVA, she is also on the faculty of George Mason University's Doctor of Arts in Higher Education Program, where she teaches CTCH 601-The Community College and CTCH 602 - College Teaching.

Beginning in the fall of 2008, Kuhta and Provost Hortense Hinton will be coordinating a program, in conjunction with the Prince William County Office of Economic Development and local industry, to provide second-career guidance and training to county residents.

Faculty at Manassas Receive Early Childhood Education Grant

Christine Schull (MA) and Kathleen Ludlow (MA) recently received an early childhood education grant from the Virginia Community College System (VCCS). "Building Blocks for a Common Degree" was submitted as a group proposal by Schull and Ludlow from NOVA and Teresa Frazier from Thomas Nelson Community College.

This grant will support the revision of course content, titles, descriptions, summaries of courses and align the Virginia Building Blocks program with the new Early Childhood Education (ECE) core competencies and professional career lattice released by the Virginia Department of Education.

This project was undertaken because the VCCS has developed a common degree in response to policy changes at the federal and statewide level necessitating higher levels of educational completion for early childhood educators. This is a substantial undertaking, but one which will result in a higher quality program for the ECE students.

Schull and Ludlow anticipate the undertaking will create a model for other states to follow - in hopes of strengthening articulation agreements and enhance the professionalism and status of the early childhood education workforce in Virginia and beyond.
American Cancer Society Fundraiser

The Travelers for Cure team needs many people to eat at the Silver Diner in Springfield on April 6 to help us raise funds for the American Cancer Society. The NOVA Relay for Life event is April 19 to 20. For complete detail, please see the flyer in the attachment section.

Farewell Reception for Wallace Hutcheon Postponed

Please note that the farewell reception for Wallace Hutcheon, originally scheduled for April 2, was postponed. More information will be coming out in the coming weeks.

The NOVA Woodbridge Theatre Group Presents a Collection of One-act Plays

To attend the NOVA Woodbridge Theatre Group production, titled "Stranger Shores: Riders to the Sea, Impromptu, The Indian Wants the Bronx, The Still Alarm," you can contact the Theatre at the Woodbridge Campus (15200 Neabsco Mills Rd., Woodbridge, Va. 22191-4099) at 703-878-5750. Play dates are April 11, 12, 18 and 19 (Fridays and Saturdays) at 8:00 p.m. and April 13 and 20 (Sundays) at 2:00 p.m.

Ticket costs are $10 for General Admission, $5 for students, faculty and staff, seniors and children. Tickets available at the door or to reserve tickets visit our Web site at http://www.nvcc.edu/nwtg. See attachment section for more information.

Faculty of the Year Reception

The NVCC Alumni Federation Board of Governors cordially invites you to attend the 2007-2008 Faculty of the Year Reception to be held in the Richard J. Ernst Community Cultural Center on April 18 at 6:30 p.m. One faculty member from each campus will be honored at this annual reception. Additionally, one adjunct award will be presented. Winners are nominated by alumni and students and selected by the NVCC Alumni Federation Faculty of the Year Committee. Please notify Bonnie Idle, alumni director, at 703-323-3749 or e-mail bidle@nvcc.edu no later than April 15 if you plan to attend.

Professional Development Opportunity

Dr. Gary Howard is scheduled to present at NOVA. His workshop, titled “Cultural Competence and Courageous Leadership: Creating Inclusive Institutional Environments” is an opportunity to supplement your skills while earning credit for professional development, through interactive sessions on multicultural issues. This event will take place on April 25 from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. in the Bisdorf Building (AL) in Room 158. Please see the flyer in the attachment section.
An Embedded Librarian in Blackboard

Collaboration between faculty and librarians to incorporate research help and information literacy instruction into course management systems can have positive results in the quality of student papers. During the spring 2008 semester, the NOVA Annandale Library launched an embedded librarian program to do just that by supporting faculty in the online portion of their classes via Blackboard course sites. Research has found that students rely too heavily on Web sites in their research, have difficulty assessing the objectivity and authority of these Web sites and are not able to develop focused search terms. The Educational Testing Service iSkills assessment found that 60 percent of students used only a single term in an average search.

As a result of these problems, a number of colleges have started encouraging the inclusion of librarians in course sites. One of the greatest strengths of an embedded librarian program is the ability to provide information at the time of need, i.e., when the student is actually working on a course assignment. Piedmont Community College in Virginia has had considerable success with this approach. At Piedmont, librarians are participating in Blackboard in several ways: via a Librarian’s Corner content area populated with information about resources for the specific subject area, through participation in discussion board forums concerning student paper topics and by responding to individual e-mail queries sent by students.

At the Annandale Library, we are currently contributing to Maria Oyenhart’s business courses, John Christmas’ biology classes, Lucinda Miller’s health sciences courses and Talula Guntner’s travel and tourism classes. Through these collaborative efforts, we have established the library’s presence on Blackboard for both face-to-face and Extended Learning Institute (ELI) courses. The embedded librarian provides a research toolbox content area with suggested resources, links to the resources and animated demonstrations of how to use a particular resource and participates in a course discussion board via an Ask-Your-Librarian forum.

For further information on the embedded librarian process or to discuss working together to incorporate this valuable service in your course(s), please contact Irene Osterman at the Annandale Campus Library at iostonman@nvcc.edu or call 703-323-3867.

The Intercom Wants to Hear from You!

The Intercom is for and by the faculty and staff of NOVA. So you are welcome to e-mail your articles and news to intercom@nvcc.edu! The deadline is EACH Friday at 5:00 p.m. for the following week’s edition (note: as usual during the summer, the Intercom is published every other week).

Send your news! For complete submission guidelines, go to http://www.nvcc.edu/pip/guidelines.htm.
Virginia Community College System Awards for Professional Development and Workshop Mini-Grants

March 24, 2008

NOVA’s submissions for the February 15 cycle were strong and reflected the diversity of interests and the rich intellectual capital we have in our faculty and staff. The seven successful NOVA proposals for the Virginia Community College System (VCCS) Professional Development and Mini-grants awarded this cycle improved our College record impressively over the last cycle in which we received no awards. Warm congratulations are due to all these members of our faculty for representing the school well in this competition for limited resources.

Innovative thinking in these proposals on behalf of our students, faculty and VCCS, strengthens NOVA’s reputation for excellence and leadership in Virginia. The support granted to those who sought advice and counsel from the Office of Grants Development improved chances in this last round of funding. Five out of six proposals that took this route were funded. Of the other six proposals submitted independently of the Office of Grants Development, two were funded.

NOVA award winners included: Allison Bisson (AN) wrote on improving math teaching through creation of a learner-centered environment in Improving Math 004 (Algebra II): A Learner-centered Environment; Callan Bentley (AN) submitted a mini professional development grant on First Aid for Field faculty and a second grant Think Globally, Learn Locally: a Physical Geology Manual Tailored to our Students, Collections and Area; Jack Lechelt (AL) proposed a Faculty Development Seminar: Social Welfare and Public Health in Scandinavia; Christine Schull (MA) will advance the teaching of early childhood education, Building Blocks for a Common Degree; Memunah Sillah (AN) will Develop a New Course in African Literature and Reva Savkar (AN) developed the Global Climate Change and Effect on Waterways an International Faculty Seminar. Bentley deserves special recognition as he was able to achieve the distinction of dual award winner for both a Professional Development grant and a Workshop Mini-grant in the same cycle.

Professional technical assistance for the development of your grant proposals can make a dramatic difference in winning awards to help make faculty professional development ideas a reality. The recent experience with the February 15 VCCS competition provides empirical evidence (five out of six versus two of six) that working with the Office of Grants Development can improve award performance.

The next cycle of funding from VCCS for professional development is due to Richmond on April 15. We have encouraged, through the Grants Newsletter, everyone interested in seeking support for professional academic pursuits, to please develop your ideas using the information on the VCCS Web site and then contact the Office of Grants Development immediately. Remember, April 8 is the day by which you should submit your completed proposal to the Office of Grants in order to receive a thorough review and make the submission deadline. Early submission will improve your chances.

Please contact either Deborah Rosen at drosen@nvcc.edu or Rob Henderson at rhenderson@nvcc.edu for assistance with grant preparation.
HEALTH BENEFITS ANNOUNCEMENT

The annual open enrollment period for health benefits and flexible reimbursement accounts will be from April 16 to May 16, 2008. Watch for more information coming to your home address as well as articles in the Intercom. The open enrollment period is the time when salaried employees eligible for health benefits can make changes in their health coverage and/or flex accounts as well as enroll for the first time. Human Resources is currently working with all Provost Offices to schedule times at each campus during the open enrollment period where we will be available to train and work with employees who want assistance in making changes to their health benefits and reimbursement accounts.

HR Reminders

- The deadline to apply for summer term tuition assistance is April 25. Employees must apply for tuition assistance prior to registering for a class. Employees must submit completed requests through their supervisory channel to Human Resources (HR). If the class is scheduled during normal work hours, an adjusted work schedule must be attached to the request. Additional documentation needs to be submitted if the class is being taken at another college or university. Employees granted "Free NOVA tuition" will be submitting the approved request to the business office in lieu of making a tuition payment. P-14 employees and adjunct faculty may be eligible for "Free NOVA" tuition. Please review the policy to determine eligibility requirements. Here is a link to the HR Training and Development Web site http://www.nvcc.edu/hr/training.htm.

- The State Board of Community Colleges recently approved an increase from one-half to three-fourths of salary for the Chancellor’s Fellowship for Classified Staff. This amount will be available for the 2008-2009 fellowships. Please see the announcement and application that are in the attachment section and remember completed application packets are due to HR by April 10.

Online Wellness Resource Available

State employees and their families now have access to a new online wellness resource through Revolution Health. The site offers a range of resources, from information on conditions and treatments to tips on how to develop and enjoy a healthy lifestyle. Here you will also find online tools like a BMI calculator, health assessments and a Symptom Checker. You will also be able to set up and maintain a secure, personal online health record that will help you keep track of your medical history, allergies, prescriptions and doctors’ visits. Visit the Revolution Health Web site at http://www.revolutionhealth.com/commonhealthva/ to get started.
Dr. Gary Howard comes to NOVA—an opportunity to supplement our skills while earning credit for professional development, through interactive sessions on multicultural issues.

Earn credits for Professional Development and supplement your understanding and competencies for communicating across cultures. The Diversity Committee and the Provost at the Alexandria Campus invite interested administrators, faculty, and staff members to attend a unique workshop on April 25 led by Gary Howard. Dr. Howard is the author of numerous articles on race, justice, and multicultural issues and he has developed collections of curriculum materials that are being used internationally. His workshop titled “Cultural Competence and Courageous Leadership: Creating Inclusive Institutional Environments” will be held in the Bisdorf Building from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

For the past 35 years, Gary Howard has been working with leaders and educators throughout the United States and Australia on issues of diversity, social justice, and equity. Since the 1999 publication of his best-selling book, We Can't Teach What We Don't Know (Second Edition, 2006), this work has centered on building the kind of culturally competent leadership skills that are necessary if we are to be successful in our efforts to create inclusive and equitable institutions and communities. In this interactive session, Gary Howard will provide a conceptual framework and demonstrate several processes, workplace strategies, activities, and conversations that have been fruitful for many in guiding their journey from rhetoric to reality and toward building dynamic, just, and pluralistic institutional cultures.

Reserve your place (by April 23) for this interactive experience with Dr. Gary Howard by contacting Dr. Brenda Lewis-Holmes at 703-845-6162 or blewisholme@nvcc.edu.

The NoVa Woodbridge Theatre Group of NVCC’s Woodbridge Campus is presenting four one-act plays exploring the concept of "Stranger Shores": alienation, xenophobia, the ‘strange,’ the farther frontier

“Riders to the Sea” could be considered one of the world’s only successful one-act tragedies. Written by John Millington Synge, of the Irish Renaissance of early 20th-century, the play deals with desolation, isolation, alienation, and the tragic toll taken by the sea surrounding a small fishing island.

“Impromptu,” Tad Mosel’s on-stage drama, contrasts four characters who are indeed in search of a director, a writer, a guide to help them muddle through the ‘business’ of life.

“The Indian Wants the Bronx” is Israel Horowitz’s exploration of the strangeness of the stranger, the danger of belonging and alienation, and the real fear of the unknown.

“The Still Alarm” has us laugh at George S. Kaufman’s cool-as-a-cumber characters caught in a cacophonous conflagration.
