On February 15 "Rescuing Reading" provided a lively, engaging seminar for full-time and adjunct faculty, from multiple campuses. In introducing Dr. Tom Long, Linda Simmons noted that he had written, among other things, "Confessions of a Promiscuous Reader." Long, professor of English at Thomas Nelson Community College and former Commonwealth Professor, noted later that the nearly full house of faculty were so engaged and lively that it made it challenging for him to stick to his planned remarks.

In "Rescuing Reading," Long presented a range of scholarly data that showcased the status of reading today, especially in younger populations, and the alarming statistical evidence that their reading is decreasing at a faster rate. The data included the findings from "Reading at Risk," one segment of the Survey of Public Participation in the Arts, conducted by the Census Bureau in 2002 at the request of the National Endowment for the Arts. One key finding noted that the 10 percent point decline in literary reading represented a loss of 20 million readers. A subsequent 2007 study revealed a worsening picture.

He identified a range of questions that NOVA could study to document the status of reading at the College in a variety of disciplines. Participants voiced their frustration about students who do not read, about students who read with no joy and about trying to balance coverage of course content with strategies to assist students with reading. To help participants design strategies tailored to these concerns and to a particular discipline, Simmons offered participants an opportunity to apply for grants funded by the Reading Across the Curriculum Initiative, an effort supported by NOVA's Professional Development Committee. Grants will be announced shortly.

VCCS's Northern Virginia Regional Center for Teaching Excellence, NOVA's Center for Excellence in Teaching and Reading Across the Curriculum Initiative supported the "Rescuing Reading" seminar.

NOVA FACULTY IN THE NEWS

On February 22, Economics Faculty Laura Jean Bhadra (MA) was highlighted in The Wall Street Journal Online (WSJ.com) in an article titled, “Big Screen Themes: Love, Adventure … and Economics.”

The WSJ.com piece referred to Bhadra’s article published in Virginia Community College System’s “Inquiry” titled, “A Picture Is Worth a Thousand Words: Engaging Kinesthetic and Multimodal Learners of Economics using Contemporary Films.” Her article “examines how movies can help illustrate economic principles” (WSJ.com).

It can be read at: http://www.vccaedu.org/inquiry/inquiry-spring2006/i-11-bhadra.html.

Annandale Campus Homecoming Weekend: Basketball Games and Fun

NOVA’s Men’s and Women’s Basketball Teams played five games during Homecoming weekend February 15 through 17 in the Ernst Center gym. It was a rousing event and entertained crowds of spectators. A highlight was Saturday’s win by the Lady Raiders, 73-61, over Tidewater Community College, who had not lost a Virginia Community College System (VCCS) game in two years.

“They played as a team,” said women’s coach Liz Oduro. “I’ve seen an improvement with the girls from the beginning of the season.”

The women’s team, whose record is 3-2 in the VCCS, also won its Friday night game against Thomas Nelson Community College, while losing to Garrett Community College of Maryland on Sunday. The NOVA Men’s Basketball Team, coached by Mike Fitzmaurice, lost a close game Friday but scored an impressive 75-55 win over Tidewater Saturday afternoon.

Homecoming weekend featured free popcorn, giveaways and a half-time exhibition by NOVA martial arts students taught by Basketball Coordinator Gamal Aboshadi. Singing the national anthem at several games was women’s basketball player Susan Rauch.

Annandale Provost Barbara Saperstone attended the games. Also spotted in the stands were Annandale faculty member Nan Peck of Speech Communication, Counselors Joann Credle (AN) and Wistar Withers (AN), Richard Bautista (AN) of Information Systems Technology, Chef Mike Herbert (AN) of Hospitality Management, Assistant Dean Susan Thompson (AN) of Physical Education, College Registrar Alethea Hamilton (AN) and the new Dean of Campus Operations Christine Holt (AN).

Work continues on schedule for Alexandria Campus’ Phase III, with anticipated completion by July 2008. The new building will be the home of student services as well as nine additional classrooms and eight science labs. Sylvia Rortvedt caught the rainbow over the new construction from the Alexandria Campus Library’s window on the afternoon of February 18.

WIMBA Collaborative Products Showcased

NOVA faculty participated with colleagues from the University of Maryland, Catholic University, George Mason University and several other Virginia Community College System (VCCS) institutions to learn more about WIMBA’s collaborative products that include voice, chat, video and other learning objects. The best practices showcase was sponsored by the Center for Excellence in Teaching and Learning (CETL), the Extended Learning Institute (ELI) and the Technology Applications Center (TAC) on February 12. NOVA’s Nancy Hoagland and Takako Shigehisa were featured presenters who demonstrated how they have integrated WIMBA technologies into their teaching and learning.

To learn more about WIMBA and to participate in an online virtual workshop, “Using WIMBA to Add Audio to your Bb Course” (2/20/08-3/5/08), go to the TAC Web site at: http://tac.nvcc.edu/tactraining/sp08/index.asp#11.

Speech and Drama Faculty Meet with VCCS Peers

NOVA Speech and Drama (SPD) faculty met with other SPD faculty from the Virginia Community College System (VCCS) for a peer group conference in Staunton, Virginia. The goal was to network and to share research about teaching and learning. SPD faculty agreed to request that VCCS change the program name from Speech and Drama to Communication Studies and Theatre (CST).

NOVA faculty Emma Hadley, Nan Peck and Philip Tirpak represented the College. Peck presented a talk, “We’ve Got to Stop Talking Like This” and Tirpak gave a presentation on “Teaching Portfolios.”

Cross Campus Day

Hold this date! Cross Campus Day for classified employees will be held at the Annandale Campus on March 14. The Professional Development Committee has come up with a few new ideas that we hope will entice many employees to attend this year. Please look for more information in next week’s Intercom and via an e-mail announcement. New in 2008 is an opportunity to obtain CPR certification. The CPR breakout session runs from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Teaming up with our Medical Education Campus Office of Continuing Education and Workforce Development, we are pleased to provide this valuable training to our classified staff. Those who want to attend the CPR class must register in advance by e-mail no later than March 10 to HRDTraining@nvcc.edu. Please contact Kathy Weiner in HR if you have any questions about Cross Campus Day.

Loudoun Campus Tea & Pedagogy Series

The Humanities Division of the Loudoun Campus proudly announces the spring 2008 Tea &Pedagogy Series. To get more information go the Web site: http://www.nvcc.edu/loudoun/t&p. Please note that the February 21 session was postponed until Fall semester 2008.

2008 Service Awards Luncheon

The NOVA Service Awards Luncheon honoring employees completing 10, 15, 20, 25, 30, 35 and 40 years of service with the Commonwealth of Virginia will be held on March 31, 2008 at the Waterford at Springfield located at 6715 Commerce Street, Springfield, Virginia. Social time (cash bar) will begin at 11:30 a.m. with lunch being served at 12:00 p.m. A list of those being honored are in the attachment section. The employment cut off date for the awards is for service through June 30, 2008.

Please check the list for the appropriate spelling of your name as well as years of service. Certificates will be made based on this list. Changes or corrections to your 2008 Certificates must be submitted before April 18, 2008. Contact Human Resources, 703-323-3788, to verify your years of service.

Invitations will be mailed at the end of February. If your home address has changed recently, please inform Human Resources. Employees must RSVP by March 21, 2008. Please indicate on the card if you will bring a guest and enclose a $26.00 check made payable to Northern Virginia Community College for each guest. The College pays for employees receiving awards. Send your reply to College Government Affairs and Community Relations in the envelope enclosed with the invitation. For further information, please call Geri Dolan at 703-323-3753.
The College Awards Committee

The College Awards Committee needs your help.

Each year the NVCC Educational Foundation sponsors an awards program to recognize Outstanding Employee service. The College Awards Committee administers the process – this year there are four separate categories of recognition:

1. Full time teaching Faculty – maximum of three awards
2. Classified Staff – maximum of three awards
3. Non-Teaching Faculty (Counselor, Librarian, Administrator, Instructional Technologist) – maximum of one award
4. Adjunct Faculty – maximum of one award

Awardees receive a $1,500 stipend and a commemorative plaque.

The program is not self nominating – each nominee must be nominated by another member of the College community. Any member of the faculty, staff or student body may nominate another member.

The Committee needs your help “spreading the word,” encouraging applications and hopefully, your promotion of this program will ensure that deserving employees receive the recognition that they have earned.

Copies of both the award application form (NVCC 105-065) and the procedural instructions can be found in the attachment section. In order to access online forms, go to the NOVA Web site at http://www.nvcc.edu/forms/pdf/105-065.pdf.

This year the application process will be done electronically (CD submission). The deadline for submission is April 1, 2008.

For questions, e-mail Jim Lock, chair, College Awards Committee at jlock@nvcc.edu.

Pharmacy Flu Shot Program Extended

Because of a late influenza outbreak in Virginia, the Commonwealth’s free flu shot program through participating pharmacies will be extended through March 15. The program is for employees and their covered family members in COVA Care and COVA HDHP. Plan members may continue to use the list of participating pharmacies found on the CommonHealth Web site at www.commonhealthva.com. However, even if a pharmacy is on the list, members interested in flu shots should call the pharmacy directly to confirm participation in the program and that they have vaccines available and are still providing flu shots.

Applications are now being accepted for the 2008-2009 Chancellor’s Fellowship for Classified Staff

See the flyer in the attachment section
As the Office of International Student Services (OISS) begins its second year of operation, the number of F-1 students at NOVA continues to grow. This year NOVA has F-1 students from over 130 countries. In the spring semester we have a total of 1,591 F-1 students with 939 pursuing associate degrees and 652 in the intensive ESL program.

OISS was established in November 2006 to coordinate services to F-1 students at NOVA. This includes processing applications, issuing I-20s, managing data required by the Department of Homeland Security, advising prospective and current F-1 students and working with international student advisors on all six campuses to coordinate services.

There are three full-time staff members in OISS. Faviola Donato-Galindo, office manager, is originally from Puerto Rico. She completed her bachelor’s degree at the University of Puerto Rico and is currently working on her master’s degree at George Mason University. Donato-Galindo began her work at NOVA as an outreach specialist on the Alexandria Campus and moved to OISS in spring 2007.

Karolina Dembinska-Lemus, student advisor, immigrated with her family to the United States from Poland when she was a child. She completed her associate degree at NOVA, her bachelor’s at the University of Mary Washington and is a doctoral candidate in linguistics at Georgetown University. She taught in the ESL program at NOVA prior to coming to OISS.

Steve Bennett, coordinator, has difficulty answering the question, “Where are you from?” As a child of missionaries, he grew up in East Pakistan and graduated from the International School of Bangkok. He completed his bachelor’s degree at Mars Hill College, and after serving three years as a Peace Corp volunteer in South Korea, completed his master’s at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Bennett has worked in international education for more than 25 years starting with UNC-Chapel Hill, and continuing with USIS-Panama, USAID Bangladesh and 10 years at The George Washington University. He began working at NOVA in the Annandale International Student Office in 2000 and became the first Coordinator of OISS in 2006.

Anyone who has questions, comments or suggestions regarding services to F-1 students are encouraged to stop by or call.
