

WASHINGTON, D.C. METRO WORKFORCE & TALENT

Northern Virginia, with its close proximity to major corporations and national government, is the hub for information technology and cybersecurity jobs. The population growth is double the national average, and the region has specialized programs in information technology and cybersecurity. There is a regional education pipeline built for business success, and a continuous output of skilled labor ready to work for businesses in the region. Northern Virginia meets business needs with comprehensive, demand-driven education strategy and builds a stronger future for your business with cyber education streamlined for success.

PROJECTED GROWTH

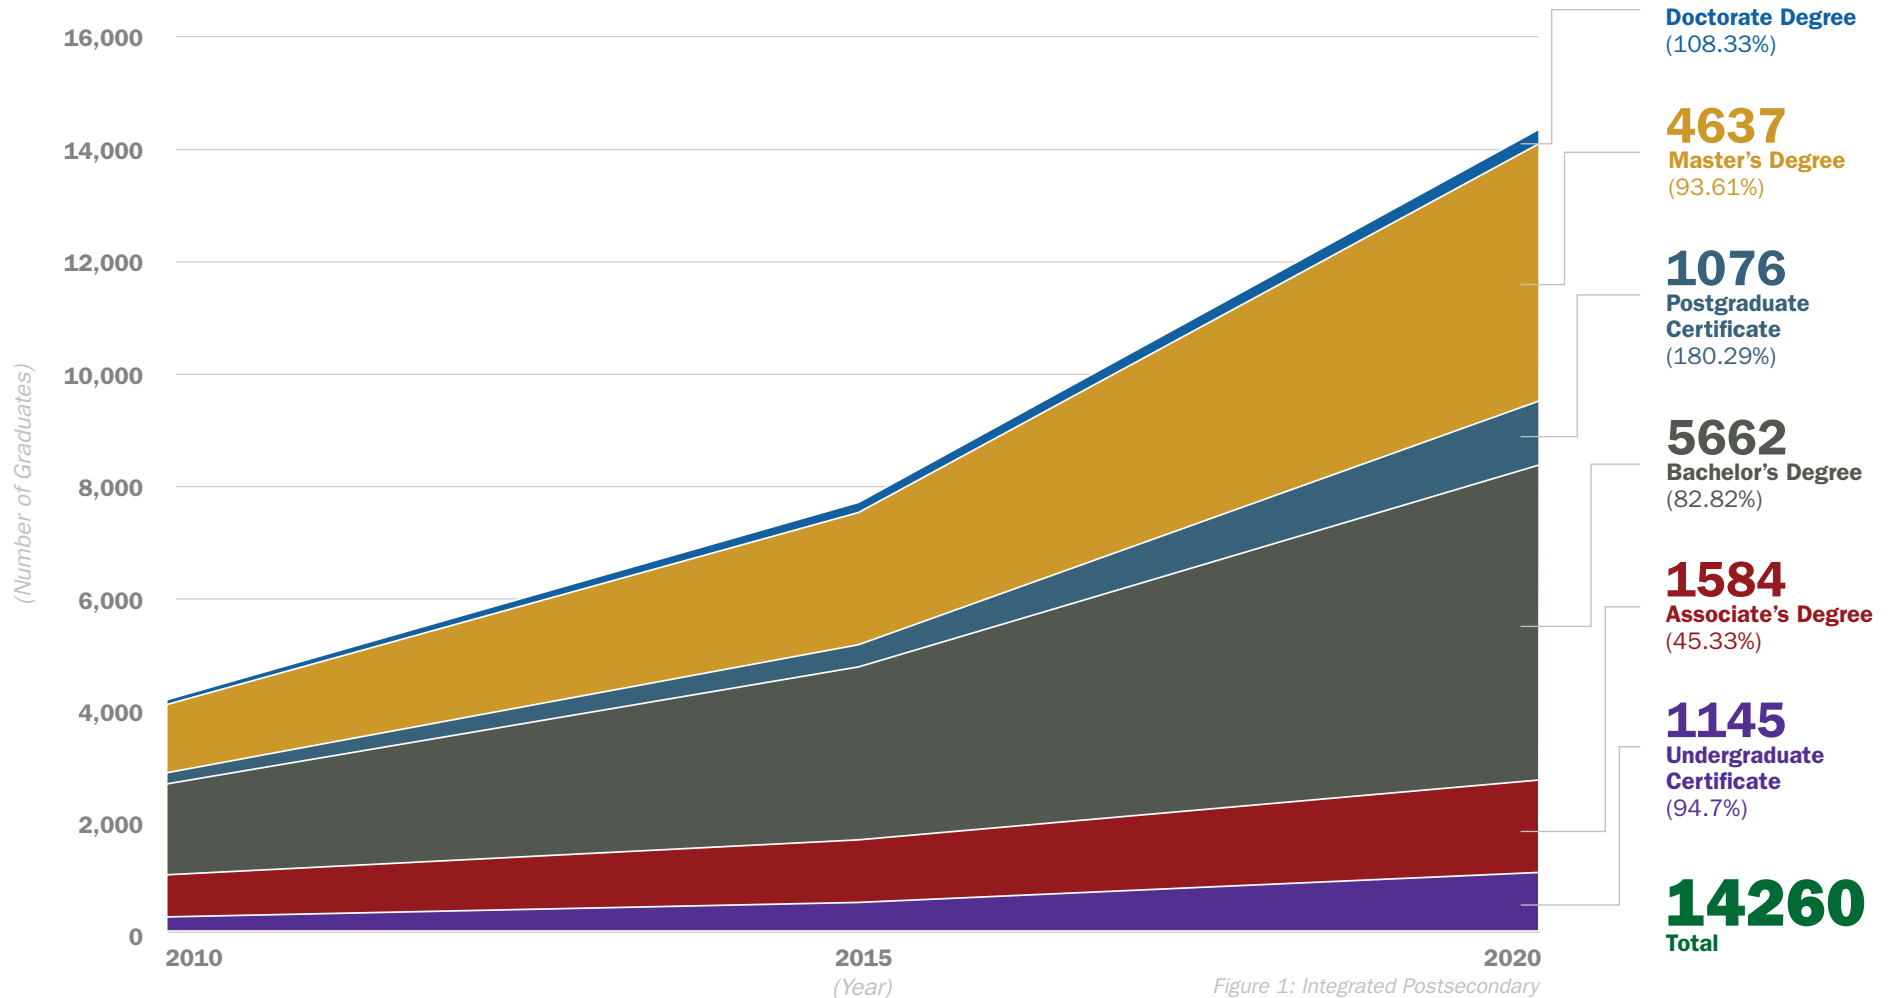

Figure 1: Integrated Postsecondary Education Data System (IPEDS)